This course will cover a number of pipeline, and pipeline response topics, and will conclude with several classroom exercises to give responders a chance to practice what they have learned.

This course is based upon the 3rd edition of the Pipeline Emergencies curriculum which has been used as a successful guide by responders across the country, to aid them on responding to these types of incidents. This is a Train-the-Trainer program.

Pipeline Emergencies is designed to help fire service and industry emergency responders to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to safely and effectively manage a pipeline incident. It is based upon nationally recognized engineering practices, recommended operating practices, and training programs.

Michael Callan, former Wallingford CT FD Captain and CT Fire School Instructor will be the trainer for this program. An emergency responder with over 45 years of experience and response to numerous hazmat emergencies. Mike was the original developer of the first Pipeline

Emergencies Training and has taught the program throughout the United States for 20 years.
